

A Different Point of View

By Horace Lee Mungin

Createspace, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Hampton R Olfus Jr (illustrator). 203 x 133 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .These poems represent a viewpoint evolving in direct correlation to the racial changes taking place in America. A Different Point of View is a forty year collection of African American Liberation Poetry. The poems in this collection are interesting, well written and provocative, but what makes this a noteworthy collection is that the reader can follow the racial transformation that took place over a forty year period in the United States. The moderation in the later poems in this collection can be directly traced to the racial moderation that taking place in America. With all the racial dust being kicked up during the recent presidential election and now even after the election, it can easily seem that there has been no racial change it all, but this collection helps readers to step back a moment to realized that the racism coming out today is background noise to the results of an election involving a black president - something that was never an issue in say, 1952, 62, 72, or 82, 92 or 2002....

READ ONLINE
[1.37 MB]

Reviews

Extensive guideline! Its this sort of excellent read. it had been writtern quite properly and helpful. You can expect to like just how the writer create this book.

-- Mr. Gustave Gerhold

This book will never be straightforward to start on reading through but quite enjoyable to learn. Better then never, though i am quite late in start reading this one. Your lifestyle span will probably be convert once you complete reading this publication.

-- Dr. Kadin Hane DVM